SOLDIERS TO BE TAGGED

Must Wear Metal Tag About Neck with Name, Number and Other Data

TAGS NOW BEING SENT OUT

President Roosevelt Sends Special Message to Congress Advocating Emergency Volunteer Army Measure

Every man in the garrison at Fort Sheridan is to be tagged.

The work of distributing the identification tags for enlisted men of the army has been undertaken by the quartermaster's department of the army, which department by the war department orders is charged with the duty of providing for sale to officers and gratuitous issue to enlisted men aluminum identification tags, the size of a silver half dollar, of suitable thickness, to be suspended from the neck underneath the clothing by means of a tape.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand of these tags have been procured from the ordnance department. Each tag is to be stamped with name, rank, company, regiment, or corps of the wearer, and steel dies for stamping the tags are furnished by the ordnance department to each organization commander.

An emergency volunteer army measure was advocated by President Roosevelt in a special message sent to congress, and the draft of the bill accompanying the message was introduced in the senate by Mr. Cullom.

The president says the bill is intended to replace the present law, which was placed on the statute books "piecemeal and hurriedly, partly on the eve of the war with Spain and partly after hostilities had actually commenced." After declaring the present law to be faulty and wholly inadequate to a speedy and proper organization of a volunteer force the president says the bill proposed has the hearty approval of the war department. The message says further:

"It is designed to afford the complete machinery by which, should we be confronted with a foreign war, the executive power could proceed at once to transform enthusiastic patriotic citizens into efficient and organized soldiers."

The proposed bill is elastic, under its provisions a force of 2,000,000 men could be raised as well as one of 50,000.

1000 WOODMEN GATHER AT KENOSHA

On Saturday evening of last week twenty-two members of Lotus Camp M. W. A. were in attendance at the big class adoption at Kenosha where a class of one hundred candidates were initiated into the order, the Kenosha team having charge of the ceremonies.

This was one the biggest gatherings of the kind ever held in this vicinity and many guests of distinction were present.

A special train was run from Genoa Junction to Kenosha for the benefit of the visiting neighbors. When the train arrived at the station the visiting members were met by a delegation of Kenosha woodmen and a parade was formed and marched through the streets to the Rhode Opera house where the initiatory work was performed.

Head Consul A. R. Talbot of Lincoln, Neb., was present and delivered a lengthy address on Woodcraft.

After the ceremony of adoption Kenosha Forester team which is generally conceded to be the second best in the country, gave an exhibition drill on the opera house stage.

Following this lunch was served in the woodman hall.

CAUTION NOTICE

There is any more shooting done at or around the Antioch Creamery, those who are will be prosecuted. There is an ordinance against the shooting of game within the corporate limits.

The Great Circus.

Coliseum, massive as it was, was mere toy in comparison with the great Circus, which filled the valley between the Palatine and Aventine hills. The Coliseum is said to have been able to seat 80,000 people; while the seating capacity of the Great Circus was, at different periods, 150,000, 250,000 and lastly 380,000 spectators. The Great Circus was probably the most stupendous building ever erected for public spectacles.

INGLESIDE COUPLE WEDDED

On Tuesday of this week, in the County Clerk's office at Waukegan, Mr. George Jackson and Miss Mary Tweed, a popular young couple of Ingleside were joined in matrimony.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Tweed and is a well known and popular young lady, having held the position of postmistress every since the village of Ingleside was begun, and has also had charge of the central office of the Chicago Telephone Company at that place for the past few years.

The groom is well known in the vicinity of Fox Lake where he has a large circle of friends who join with the News in extending to him and his bride best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

W. E. MILLER RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT

Over an opposing ticket headed by J. F. Clarke of Libertyville the following officers were elected for the Lake County Fair Association at Libertyville Wednesday afternoon:

President—W. E. Miller of Libertyville.
1st V. P.—J. Swayer of Waukegan.
2nd V. P.—P. F. L. Carr of Waukegan.
Secretary—Jay B. Morse of Libertyville.
Treasurer—W. M. Heath of Libertyville.
Directors—H. Beck, Antioch; L. B. Hanby, Libertyville; W. F. Clow, Warren; George Quentin, Vernon; and W. Vickery Fremont.

ROUND LAKE VOTED TO ORGANIZE AS A VILLAGE

The village of Round Lake was legally authorized at a special election held on Tuesday of this week, when 51 voters voted for the incorporation and 15 against the proposition.

It had been reported that a strong opposition would result, but the vote showed that it did not develop.

Controlled by Combine.

There is a trust in fuller's earth with the final process known only to one or two persons, whose lips are rigidly sealed. The deposits of fuller's earth exist chiefly at Bath and Nottinghamshire, England, and at Maxton, in Scotland, in addition to deposits in the London district. The industry is practically controlled by a combine which strictly preserves the methods of preparation of the earth.

World's Rice-Growing Country.

Japan grows about 40 times as much rice as is produced in the United States. Over seven per cent. of the land in the Japanese islands is used for the rice crop. In this country the proportion is one acre out of 2,000.

FARMERS ORGANIZE TO FIGHT

Meeting at Wadsworth to Combat Chicago Health Board's Rule

ON TUBERCULOSIS IN MILK

Question Raised That Tuberculin Test Was Not Accurate and Left Cows in Bad Condition

The farmers of Wadsworth and vicinity held a meeting at that place Monday evening, December 7, for the purpose of forming an organization for protection against arbitrary rules and regulations, which the Chicago City Board of Health has made against them. "Compelling the milk producers to test their stock" was the question most discussed.

The point was raised that the tuberculin test was not accurate, and that having tested, it left the cows with the disease, or less able to combat it.

The meeting was largely attended by all the large and small shippers, and much interest was taken in the project.

The farmers unanimously favored organizing. A chairman and secretary were appointed, also a committee to draft a set of rules and regulations for the new organization.

The next meeting will be held at Russell, Monday night, December 14. It is to the interest of every milk producer to attend. The "Can't's" should wake up and join the ranks of the "I will's" for their own mutual benefit and protection.

NELS G. NELSON PASSED AWAY AT SALEM

On Monday morning at the home of Mr. Manning, north of Salem occurred the death of Mr. Nels G. Nelson, the cause of his demise being pneumonia.

Mr. Nelson was an unmarried man forty-one years of age. He was a ditcher and resided in the vicinity of Salem for the past twenty years.

The deceased was born in Sweden in the year of 1867, but came to America many years ago. His only relative in this country is one sister Mrs. Anna Carlson who resides at Lancaster, Minn. His father and mother still reside in Sweden.

The funeral services were held at the home of Mr. Manning Wednesday forenoon. The remains were interred in the Liberty cemetery.

ATTEMPTED TO RUN AUTOMOBILE

Because he entered Coroner Taylor's garage at Libertyville and was found pouring water into the auto, oiling and otherwise preparing to take the machine out and because he made threats against those who discovered him Jim Tucker was held in $500 peace bonds for five months and is in the county jail being taken there by Marshall Limberry.

Before his arrest he threatened Frank Cooper, Dr. Taylor's present employee, who was one of those who pounced upon him and said that he would fix him for taking his job.

Tucker was formerly chauffeur for the coroner but had been discharged. It is said that he often took out the doctor's auto or horses for private spins about the country.

YOUNGSTERS TAUGHT TO SMOKE.

Two Centuries Ago English Children Carried Pipes to School.

The practice of juvenile smoking in this country in the seventeenth century was practically universal, says the London Chronicle. Jorevin de Rochefort, a French traveler of that period, in an account published in 1671 gives a description of an evening he spent in Worcester. He was catechized by one of the townsmen as to the habits of the French people. "While we were talking about the town," he writes, "he asked me if it was the custom in France, as in England, that when the children went to school they carried in their satchels with their books a pipe of tobacco which their mother took care to fill early in the morning, it serving them instead of breakfast, and that at the accustomed hour every one laid aside his book to light his pipe, the master smoking with them and teaching them how to hold their pipes and draw their tobacco, thus accustoming them to it from their youths, believing it absolutely necessary for a man's health."

PERILS LIFE TO SAVE HIS DEER

Narrow Escape of Al. Seifert In the Northern Woods of Wisconsin

PLEASURES OF NIMROD LIFE

On Recent Trip Shot and Brought Down Monarch of Wisconsin Weighing Two Hundred and Twenty Pounds

At the peril of his own life Albin Seifert of Waukegan, saved for the glory of Waukegan hunters the largest deer brought down in the Wisconsin woods this year.

Dragging the deer's carcass across the ice of a lake Seifert struck an air hole, went into the cold waters of the lake, deer and all, and had it not been for the prompt efforts of two companions, one of whom was Robert Giese of Waukegan, might have lost his life.

Seifert and Giese, accompanied by Les Cushing, care taker and guide at Schuyler Watrous' resort, Flambeau Lodge, Wisconsin, 500 miles from here and many miles from a railroad, had trailed a deer, a record smasher for size, all day long.

Finally Mr. Seifert's unerring aim brought down the monster buck, which was found later to weigh 220 pounds and to beat all records of the year on any hunter's part. It fell to Mr. Seifert to take care of his prize trophy of the season.

Three and a half miles from camp it was necessary to cross a small lake with the buck. Mr. Seifert proceeded across thinking the ice thick enough. He carried the carcass. However, on the way across he struck an air hole and went down ker plunk, deer and all, into the water, which closed above his head, due to the weight of his burden. When he rose his head struck the ice and the ice broke, giving him air by the greatest of good luck.

His two companions, with great presence of mind, cut down small saplings which they extended to him, and after a twenty minute fight in which his herculean strength, endurance, training and fortitude all had a part, he landed again on the ice with the carcass of the deer still in his grasp and safe.

How he ever retained his hold on it while in the water for nearly half an hour, how he bucked the ice and still grasped the dead deer, how he fought the cold and yet retain his hold on it, and how he finally brought it clear to Waukegan are elements in a remarkable story.

The buck for which Mr. Seifert so nearly lost his life came to Waukegan in fine shape some days ago and made fine steak.

LIFT MORTGAGE FROM ZION LAND

According to the Zion City News, Receiver Thomas of Zion City on Wednesday of last week, paid off another $10,000 mortgage on Zion land bounded on the north by Shiloh boulevard, on the east by Eljah Avenue, on the south by twenty-seventh street and on the east by Eljah Avenue.

The mortgage was not yet due but the receiver desired to clear up the title appropos of the sale of business lots along the west side of the main business thoroughfare and incidentally to release from mortgage the property on which the General stores, Administration building Temple Cottage and Annex etc., are located, thereby clearing of incumbrance property of the estate worth about $100,000.

HOW BEETHOVEN BECAME DEAF.

Injured in Excess of Anger Caused by Importunate Tenor.

Beethoven gave the following account of how he became deaf to Charles Neate:

"I had to deal with a tiresome and capricious tenor. I had already written two great arias to the same words, neither of which pleased him, and also a third, which he did not care for the first time he tried it, but which he took away with him. I was thanking heaven that I was rid of him and had settled down to something else when in less than an hour I recognized his knock at the door.

"I sprang up from my table in such a rage that as the man came in at the door I flung myself on the floor as they do on the stage I fell on my hands, and when I got up I found I was deaf. The doctor said I had injured the nerves."

Lovers of the great master can occupy themselves thinking of things they would like to do to the luckless tenor.

LARGE SUM FOR BOUNTIES

County Clerk Pays Out Over $500 For Bounties During Past Year

The fiscal year ended in the County Clerk's office Friday and reports of all matters up to the first Monday in December were given to the supervisors Monday last.

In looking over matters to be included in the reports it was found that over two thousand ground hogs or wood chucks have been killed in this county, mostly in the clayey Waukegan region, and Lake County has paid out in twenty-five cent bounties over five hundred dollars.

Percy Gonyo of Loon Lake is one of the leading lights of the ground hog world with 67-1675 to his credit.

Payment of crow bounties will also beat all records. Ten cents for heads and five for eggs are the rates and many Lake County people mostly Benton and Zion City folk, have taken a rap or two at the bounty fund.

At the present rate it is claimed that crows will soon be exterminated in this vicinity.

W. Pfingstson of Vernon handed in 180 crows and 14 eggs. He is the champion. Clarence Campbell of Zion sent in 145 eggs.

R. Dowell of Waukegan brought in eighty six woodchucks and received twenty-one dollars and fifty cents.

The town clerk certifies to the capture of the animals, birds and eggs, and the county clerk pays the bounty.

CHARLES WHITNEY IN AN OPEN PERSONAL LETTER

TO THE VOTERS OF LAKE COUNTY:

Three Circuit Judges will be elected in June, 1909, in this judicial district, which is composed of the counties of Winnebago, Boone, McHenry and Lake.

Lake county is justified in asking for a resident Circuit Judge, because of its large and growing law business, which is equal at least to that of Winnebago county, and because of its large population, it being second only to Winnebago county in that respect.

I shall be a candidate for one of these positions at the R-publican primaries to be held on April 13, 1909, at which the three Republican candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the entire district will be declared the nominees of the party.

With about 23,500 Republican voters in the district it will be impossible for me to call on all of them, as I should like to do, to personally submit my candidacy; but in Lake county, where I know so many, and so many know me, I feel that you will be willing to excuse me if I am not able to see you all.

Therefore, I write this open letter, respectfully soliciting your support during my campaign this winter, and at the primaries next April.

Ever remembering that I am under obligations to the good people of Lake county for past favors manifested in so many friendly ways, I am,

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES WHITNEY.

AUTHORITIES BAR INVITATIONS

Society circles are somewhat surprised to learn that the United States postal authorities have barred the sending of invitations through mail to parties where bridge whist or other games are played for prize. The "taboo" was placed upon all such invitations by E. B. Goodwin, assistant postmaster general, and it will affect society in every city, town and village in the country.

While bridge is not usually played for money at social gatherings, the edict is especially aimed against that game, it being a devotee that called forth the ruling, when she wrote from Hartford, Conn., asking whether or not the postal department regarded bridge whist prizes as a lottery.

The reply was: Yes, and all other prizes given at card games, or a prize given at any game of chance. Invitations to such parties, if sent through the mails, are violations of the lottery laws."

A. STANLEY PASSED AWAY AT WAUKEGAN

Arulzeman Stanley passed away on Friday of last week at his home at 318 South Genesee street, Waukegan.

By his death Lake County loses one of its early settlers and a highly respected citizen who had the unique distinction of having been an almost perfect double of the late John Alexander Dowie.

The deceased was an old settler at Fox Lake and resided there for many years.

The funeral was held from the home at half past ten o'clock Sunday morning and from the Baptist church at eleven o'clock. The remains were laid at rest in the Angola cemetery at Lake Villa.

LOOT A STORE AT NIGHT

Robbers Invade Store in Waukegan and Carry off a Wagon Load of Goods

LOSS WILL REACH $700.00

Robbers Smash Window and Secure a Wagon Load of Clothing, Boots and Shoes and Other Merchandise

One of the boldest robberies for some time was that of Saturday night when robbers made a wholesale haul of goods from the general store of John Umek, Tenth street, Waukegan, the estimated loss being about $700.

The goods taken include: Fourteen suits of men's clothing. Two hundred pairs of men's and boys' shoes, valued at from $1 to $5 per pair. One dozen umbrellas.

A number of pairs of boots. And various articles of merchandise, including gloves and cigars.

The robbers, for there must have been more than one, evidently had a wagon to cart away the goods, for they could not have taken them otherwise.

However, the fall of snow covered their tracks, and as yet no clue is known as to their identity. However, because of the nature of the goods taken, it is felt that the chances of success in locating them are better than the average robbers.

The robbers entered the store through the window of the front door, which was broken to enable them to open the door.

They evidently passed the goods out through these broken windows, for the door was locked Monday morning when Mr. Umek went to the place at seven o'clock to sweep out. Then he discovered the robbery and gave the alarm to Waukegan and North Chicago police. He was in the store up to 9:45 Saturday night.

The finding of a piece of newspaper with blood on it and traces of blood on the window-sill, shows that the robbers evidently cut their hands in getting into the place. The presumption is they started to cut the glass out, and that, in shoving in the pane, cut their hands. The imprint of blood-stained fingers on the workwood of the room may be the means of helping trace the robbers.

This is the first robbery of years where sufficient goods were taken to lead to the belief that a wagon was needed to cart off the loot, and this fact leads to the conclusion that the thieves live in Waukegan or North Chicago, and unless they remain mighty shady, they may be captured, especially if they attempt to dispose of the goods.

RUSSELL COUPLE INJURED IN RUNAWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Clark, who reside near Russell, met with quite serious injuries on Wednesday afternoon of last week when the horses attached to the vehicle in which they were riding, ran away on South Ashland avenue, Kenosha.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark and one of their children, a boy four years old, were thrown from the rig and while the child escaped unhurt Mr. and Mrs. Clark both sustained serious injuries.

The couple had been in Kenosha shopping and had started for their home just after six o'clock when the horses became frightened at a passing train near the Northwestern crossing on the avenue and ran away. The injured people were taken to a nearby house and a physician was summoned. The team was caught and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Clark returned home.

NOTICE TO TIMBER THIEVES

Wood having been taken of my eighty acres without my permission, in Salem, Kenosha County, land rented from me by Charles Wilton, and also from my forty acres rented by Michael Hoyer; Notice is hereby given that this wood was stolen and I shall prosecute and hold liable the parties having taken the same. Future timber thieves are hereby also warned that they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Emilio R. Wills, 678 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, New York City. 14w8

SYNOPSIS.

The Escapade opens, not in the romance preceding the marriage of Ellen Strathgate and Lord Carrington, but in their life after settling in England. The scene is placed, just following the revolution in Carrington castle in England. The Carringtons, after a house party, engaged in a family tilt, caused by jealousy. Lady Carrington agreed to cut cards with Lord Strathgate, whose attentions to Ellen had become a sore point with Carrington. The loss of $100,000 failed to perturb her, and her husband then cut for his wife's I. O. U. and his honor, Carrington winning. Additional attentions of Lord Carrington to Lady Cecily and Lord Strathgate to Lady Carrington compelled the latter to vow that she would leave the castle. Preparing to depart, an American girl, met Lord Strathgate at two a. m. he agreeing to see them safely away. He attempted to take her to his castle, but she left him stunned in the road when the carriage met with an accident. She and Debbie then struck out for Portsmouth, where she intended to sail for America. Hearing news of Ellen's flight, Lord Carrington and Seton set out in pursuit. Strathgate, bleeding from fall, dashed on to Carrington, and which Carrington and Seton were also headed by different routes. Strathgate arrived in Portsmouth on the ship of the other and found that Ellen's ship had sailed before her. Strathgate and Carrington each hired a small yacht to pursue the wrong vessel, upon which each supposed Ellen had sailed. Seton overtook the fugitives near Portsmouth, but his craft ran aground, just as capture was imminent. Ellen won the chase by boarding American vessel and felling her pursuers—Strathgate, Seton and Carrington. Carrington and Strathgate, thrown together by former's wrecking of latter's vessel, engaged in an impromptu duel, neither being hurt.

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued.

This was an embarrassing question, but Sir Charles was saved the necessity of answering, for the midshipman came running to the quarterdeck once more and saluted.

"Well?" said the officer to the expectant boy.

"Admiral Kephart's compliments to you, sir, and he begs you will escort Captain Seton to his cabin at once."

"You're in luck, captain," returned the officer, "the admiral is not always so easy of access. Will you step this way, sir?"

"After you, sir," said Sir Charles, bowing and following the lieutenant until he was ushered past the marine orderly on duty and into the admiral's cabin.

The admiral was just completing his toilet. His body servant was helping him on with his coat. He had evidently just had a bath to refresh him after the fatigues of his journey.

"Oh, Seton," he cried as the other came in, "glad to see you, man. Sit down. John," to the servant—"fetch out a decanter of navy sherry. Whisky, Seton, whisky, although perhaps you army men affect port."

"I guess we can follow the navy's lead in something stronger than port," laughed Sir Charles.

"What brought you here, Sir Charles?" continued the admiral as he poured out a liberal glassful for Seton and another for himself. "I left you at Carrington. But, no, I remember you rode away before I did, just after my lord. Have you come on any trace of fugitives?"

"Admiral," said Sir Charles, gravely, "I know where they are."

"And that damned lubberly hound, Strathgate, is he—"

"He isn't with them. They gave him the slip."

"You don't say? Good!" laughed the admiral. "How was that?"

Seton rapidly detailed the circumstances as he had deduced them.

"Well done, that woman has split enough," continued the old soldier, "to command a frigate. You will never convince me that she's taken up with a man of Strathgate's caliber."

"She went away with him, though," said Seton thoughtfully.

"Ay ay, but she knows no more of the world than a baby. She simply made use of his proffered assistance to escape from an intolerable situation. You take me, Seton?"

"I do, admiral, and I confess I hardly blame her. How Carrington could tolerate Lady Cecily for a moment beside that splendid woman—"

"To say nothing of that other splendid woman, Mistress Deborah Slocum, eh, Seton?"

"I admit, admiral—"

"Even 'Saints' Rest' becomes heavenly when looked at by the aid of such a pair of black eyes? And the lady, boy?"

"I confess, sir," answered Seton, somewhat abashed by the frank questioning of the old man, "that I have some reason to believe, in short—"

"In short, my boy, you've been chasing her all night, have you?"

"You're right, sir."

"And what now?"

"I told you, admiral, that I knew where they were."

"Well, where are they? Out with it, lad. Disclose your information and come to the point. All these side issues are unworthy of a soldier," laughed the old seaman, well knowing that for most of them he was responsible.

"They're on a merchant ship bound up the channel and going fast when I saw them last."

"What?" cried the admiral. "Give me the particulars."

Sir Charles rapidly ran over the scene of the morning.

The old admiral threw back his head and laughed.

"And she outwitted you all, shook Strathgate off the track, led you ashore, watched Carrington and Strathgate fight it out under her very eyes and got clean away?"

"She hasn't got away yet, admiral."

"What mean you?"

"I came here to make a proposition to you."

"A proposition to me?"

"Yes."

"You have a fast ship at your command, I take it."

"Do you mean the Britannia?" said the admiral, mentioning his flagship.

"I do."

"Of course she's fast. The admiral knows me. I wouldn't take a slow ship."

"Is she as fast as that merchantman, do you think?"

"Why, my boy, there isn't a merchant ship on the seas that she couldn't overhaul in anything like a wind."

"Admiral," said Sir Charles ingenuously, "I lay you a wager."

"What is that?"

"A hundred pounds that you can't overtake that merchant ship."

"What!" roared the admiral. "Me take out one of my majesty's ships to chase after a runaway wife and a foolish girl?"

"I beg your pardon, admiral, if you refer to Mistress Deborah Slocum, I must ask you to moderate your language," protested Sir Charles, warmly, his face flushing.

"Go to! go to!" laughed the admiral. "I'm old enough to be your father. But the idea of an admiral of the white taking a hundred gun ship of the line out to chase a paltry merchantman for—Impossible, my boy, impossible!"

"But," said Sir Charles, "a navy cannot afford to decline a bet, a wager."

"You Are Right Sir."

with his sister service. I'll lay you a thousand pounds, admiral, that you can't do it."

"My lad," said the admiral gently, after a moment's reflection, "no wagers are needed. I'll do it because I'm fond of the girl and Carrington, too. I can overhaul them before nightfall without doubt and I'll be glad to do it, although just exactly what warrant I have for stopping an American ship on the high seas and taking from her another man's wife I can hardly say."

"I can help you in that, admiral. As to warrant, if you'll bring to the other ship and give me a boat crew, I'll go aboard the American and do the rest. Mistress Deborah, I am sure, will come willingly."

"Don't be too sure of that," returned the admiral, "don't count upon a woman until she's your own, and don't count too much upon her after that, as Carrington might say."

"Nevertheless, I think I speak by the card," said Sir Charles.

"Very well, you know best. Having been a bachelor all my life, I know more about ships than women. But hark ye, Seton, this one thing. Don't you come back to the ship after I put you aboard that trader, with only Miss Deborah. The two have to come together, or go together, you understand?"

"Yes, sir."

The admiral struck the bell on the table beside him. Instantly the marine orderly popped in the door.

"My compliments to the officer of the deck," said the admiral to the orderly, "and ask him to beg Captain Beatty to favor me with his presence in the cabin."

"Yes, sir," returned the orderly, saluting.

A moment after—an incredibly short time it seemed to Seton, who was unaware of the way in which an admiral's requests are obeyed—Captain Beatty, the officer mentioned, presented himself before the admiral.

"You wish to see me, admiral?"

"Yes, Beatty. By the way, let me present to you Sir Charles Seton of the Sussex light infantry, captain in his majesty's land forces. Seton, this is the Honorable Archibald Beatty, my flag captain. Beatty, will you get the Britannia under way at once?"

"Yes, sir," returned the captain. "Are the rest of the fleet to follow us?"

"No," answered the admiral, "signal to the rest of them to disregard the movements of the commander-in-chief. Then signal to the Renown for Lascelles to take command until we return."

"Very good, sir," returned the captain. "And what course shall we lay?"

"That which will get us into the channel quickest, and then as due east as the wind will let us. I'll be on deck, however, before you're ready for that."

"There are several boat parties ashore, admiral, do you wish me to wait for them?"

"No, sir, you will weigh at once."

"Very good sir," returned the captain, saluting and turning away.

"And Beatty," the admiral called after him, "a drop of navy sherry with me before you go."

"Thank you, admiral," said Beatty, filling his glass.

"I'll give you a toast, Sir Charles," said the admiral.

"Yes," returned the soldier.

"A short cruise and the women at the end of it!"

"I drink to that with all my heart!" returned Sir Charles.

"And I also," said Captain Beatty, greatly mystified, "although I don't understand exactly."

"We're going to chase a Yankee merchant ship, Beatty, and take a couple of ladies in whom Sir Charles is interested off of it."

"A couple!" cried Beatty.

"I'm only interested in one of them," said Sir Charles warmly.

"It's a runaway sweetheart and a runaway wife, Beatty," continued the admiral, "Lady Carrington and Mistress Deborah Slocum."

"And which one is Sir Charles interested in?" asked the sailor, smiling.

"In Mistress Slocum, of course," laughed the admiral. "Now, captain," he continued, assuming his quarterdeck manner, "I want you to get the ship under way in the quickest possible time. Let's show this land lubber here what his majesty's navy can do when it's in dead earnest. Imagine there are a dozen Frenchmen out there, all boiling for a fight, and bear a hand!"

"Ay, ay, sir," said Beatty, saluting and withdrawing from the cabin.

A moment later there came faintly through the bulkheads the shrill whistling of the boatswain and his mates, followed by a deep cry:

"All hands up anchor!"

CHAPTER XV.

Captain Jeremiah Tuggles is Insulted.

It was a moment of splendid triumph for the heroine of this mad escapade when she drew under the lee of the great ship tremendously above her. Her eyes were as keen as Carrington's. She had recognized, or divined, that the tall figure standing on the rail of the larger boat staring at her was her husband. She knew that in some way they had concluded that she would try to escape on the merchantman and that they were trying to catch that ship. She was experienced enough, also, to know that their efforts would be futile and their trouble in vain. There was only one possible contingency which could prevent the accomplishment of her desires now, and that would be the refusal of the captain of the ship to stop for her when she ran him down.

Ellen had a well-filled purse and she hoped to persuade him with that. At any rate, she kept recklessly on, although the little boat came near to swamping and Deborah, between terror and disappointment, was in a state of collapse. Ellen boldly ran down under the lee of the big ship. By skillful handling she brought her boat within hailing distance of the merchantman.

A man stepped on the rail to leeward and stared hard at her.

"What ship is this?" asked Ellen.

"The Flying Star of Boston."

Ellen's heart sank.

"I thought it was the New Eagle of Philadelphia," she cried.

"She sailed yesterday."

"Where are you bound?" asked Ellen, fighting against the sinking of heart caused by this news.

COUNTRY'S NEEDS SET FORTH.

Wall Street Journal Advocates Return to Old Conditions.

The following editorial from the Wall Street Journal is somewhat remarkable, appearing in a purely financial paper, and is certainly worthy of serious consideration:

"What America needs is a revival of piety, the kind mother and father used to have—piety that counted it good business to stop for daily family prayer before breakfast, right in the middle of harvest; that quit field work at a half hour early Thursday night so as to get the chores done and go to prayer meeting; that borrowed money to pay the preacher's salary and prayed fervently in secret for the salvation of the rich man who looked with scorn on such unbusinesslike behavior. That's what we need now to clean this country of the filth of graft, and of greed, petty and big; of worship of fine horses and big lands and high office and grand social functions. What is this thing we are worshipping but a vain repetition of what decayed nations fell down and worshiped just before their light went out? Read the history of Rome in decay and you will find luxury there that could lay a big dollar over our little doughnut that looks so large to us. Great wealth never made a nation substantial nor honorable. There is nothing on earth that looks good that is so dangerous for a man or nation to handle as quick, easy, big money. If you do resist its deadly influence the chances are that it will devour your son. It takes greater and finer heroism to dare to be poor in America than to capture a battery in Manchuria."

LISTEN TO MESSAGE NABBED FOR FRAUD

COMMUNICATION FROM PRESIDENT READ TO CONGRESS.

NEEDS OF THE NATION

New Laws and Changes in Existing Statutes Are Among Recommendations Made by the Chief Executive.

Washington, Dec. 8. — President Roosevelt's message to congress, which was read in both houses to-day, contained many important recommendations as to legislation which he considers urgent.

The financial standing of the country, the president points out, is at present excellent, but there is great need that the currency commission proceed at once to remedy existing defects.

The president repeats with emphasis his views, hitherto expressed, that for the good of the country the control of great corporations, and especially the railroads, must be placed in the hands of the national government. The Sherman anti-trust law he condemns as positively harmful in its workings, urging as a substitute a law which shall expressly permit combinations which are in the interest of the public, but shall at the same time give to some agency in the national government full power of control and supervision over them.

In the interests of the wageworkers of the country the president urges the prohibition of child labor, diminution of women labor, and shortening of hours of all mechanical labor. There should be, he says, a progressive inheritance tax on large fortunes.

The matter of taking care of the wageworkers, who, under our present industrial system, become killed, crippled, or worn out as part of the regular incidents of a given business, is gone into at length, and a system of industrial old-age pensions is endorsed.

The president recommends that, beginning with the supreme court, the salaries of judges be doubled.

Demands for legislation made by certain labor leaders on the last congress come in for sharp criticism, being described as unjust and impractical, and opposed to the real interests of the workers.

The much-discussed power of injunction the president considers a great equitable remedy, which must on no account be destroyed, though he considers that safeguards should be erected against its abuse. Immediate hearings of cases, following the issuance of an injunction, he thinks, would do much toward allaying criticism of the courts.

Discussing measures necessary for the proper control of giant corporations operating in defiance of law, the president says:

"Real damage has been done by the manifold and conflicting interpretations of the interstate commerce law. Control over the great corporations doing interstate business can be effective only if it is vested with full power in an administrative department, a branch of the federal executive, carrying out a federal law; it can never be effective if a divided responsibility is left in both the states and the nation; it can never be effective if left in the hands of the courts to be decided by lawsuits."

Immediate action toward the preservation of the existing forests is put forward as a national duty.

In the opinion of the president, action by the present session of congress for the improvement of our inland waterways is imperative. He recommends the creation of a permanent commission authorized to co-ordinate the work of all the government departments relating to waterways, and to frame and supervise the execution of a comprehensive plan.

The immediate institution of postal savings banks, recommended in previous messages, is again urged, together with the establishment of a parcel post service for the mutual benefit of the farmer and the country storekeeper.

Larger grants to the bureau of education is one of the recommendations contained in the message.

Of our foreign policy the message says: "This nation's foreign policy is based on the theory that right must be done between nations, precisely as between individuals, and in our actions for the last ten years we have in this matter proven our faith by our deeds. We have behaved, and are behaving, towards other nations, as in private life an honorable man would behave towards his fellows."

High praise is accorded all those responsible for the expeditious work being done on the Panama canal, and the extension of the ocean mail act of 1891 urged, to the end that American ocean mail lines to the east may be established.

Real progress, the president declares, is being made in the Philippines, and the outlook is declared bright.

Steps to maintain and increase the present efficiency of the National Guard is another recommendation of the message. The services of well-trained army officers with the militia are shown to have had excellent results.

The system of promotion by merit in the army, displacing the hitherto prevailing system of seniority, is defended as vital to the good of the service.

The message concludes with the recommendation of a large increase in the navy. It is desirable, the president says, to complete as soon as possible a squadron of eight battleships of best existing type.

PUT IN JAIL AT AURORA

HAROLD BURNS, LONG SOUGHT, CAPTURED IN CHICAGO.

Directory Swindle, of Which He is Accused, was Worked on Merchants in Northern Illinois Cities.

Chicago.—Harold Burns, 46 years old, for whom the police have sought for two years on a charge of promoting a million-dollar business directory swindle, was captured in Chicago Saturday afternoon.

He was hurried out of the city by Frank Gibson, a private detective of Aurora, Ill., landed in the Kane county jail, and until Monday the story of his arrest did not come out.

The swindle in which Burns is accused of having been implicated has been worked on merchants in Chicago, Rockford, Joliet, Aurora, Kewanee, Streator and Peoria. It began 15 years ago, and so successful were the operators in covering up their tracks that the first arrests in the case were made two years ago.

Edward Reeves and Emery Hartzig, said to have been employed by Burns, were captured in Kane county. They were sentenced to Joliet penitentiary, and are now serving indeterminate sentences.

They are said to have implicated Burns in their confessions at that time. The police have been searching for him since.

The detectives learned that Burns was carrying a large amount of money with him. It was said to be the spoils left from the gleanings of the directory promoters. He was to go to Europe, plant the money, and meet Reeves and Hartzig when their terms in prison expired, the police assert.

Burns and his wife, who is a beautiful woman, left Chicago one month ago. They went to New York. They were to take a boat from that city to Liverpool.

On the day that the two were to embark for England a message came to Burns that a friend, living in Thirst-first street, in Chicago, and whose name the police of Aurora refuse to disclose, was ill. He was requested to return to Chicago at once. Mrs. Burns was left in New York and her husband took a flyer for Chicago.

Burns arrived at the La Salle street station and was hurried to the home of his ill friend. The Chicago police had no knowledge of his arrival in the city. However, Detective Gibson of Aurora was tipped off as to the man's presence here, and arrested him after a chase.

WARNS FLOCK OF HIS DEATH.

Toledo Pastor Calmly Announces That He Cannot Live Long.

Toledo, O.—"I won't be with you much longer. The doctors tell me that I may live a month, but not longer than six months."

In a voice that showed no more emotion than he might exhibit in one of his regular sermons Rev. John P. McCloskey, assistant pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and one of the best loved of Toledo clergymen, told his congregation that his death is near. He informed his listeners that he was suffering with cancer of the esophagus, an incurable disease, and that his physicians had told him an operation would be useless. He is 46 years of age and was ordained 20 years ago.

DYING MAN AT THE THROTTLE.

Engineer of Great Northern Train Found with Crushed Skull.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Unknown to passengers or trainmen, a dying man's hand controlled the throttle of the east-bound Great Northern coast passenger train as it sped on its way from Robbinsdale to Clear Water Junction late Monday afternoon. The man was George P. Irwin, the engineer, who died a moment after he was taken from the train in Minneapolis.

Irwin was found unconscious and leaning out of the cab window by his fireman, George Ridgeway. Pulling the limp form of his companion back into the cab, Ridgeway noticed the engineer's skull was fractured.

Canada Premier in Wreck.

St. Vincent, Minn.—Two cars on the noon local of the Great Northern railroad from the Twin Cities were thrown into the ditch here Monday by a broken rail. In one of the cars was Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, who was among the passengers shaken up, although no one was seriously injured.

Bank Robbery in Portland, Ore.

Portland, Ore.—The East Side bank was held up by three men and robbed of $15,000 Monday.

UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM SOUTH CAROLINA PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

Ex-Senator M. C. Butler.

Dyspepsia Is Often Caused by Catarrh of the Stomach—Peruna Relieves Catarrh of the Stomach and Is Therefore a Remedy for Dyspepsia.

Hon. M. C. Butler, U. S. Senator from South Carolina for two terms, in a letter from Washington, D. C., writes to the Peruna Medicine Co., as follows:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine, besides a good tonic."

CATARRH of the stomach is the correct name for most cases of dyspepsia. Only an internal catarrh remedy, such as Peruna, is available.

Peruna Tablets can now be procured. Ask your Druggist for a Free Peruna Almanac for 1925.

320 Acres of Wheat Land IN WESTERN CANADA WILL MAKE YOU RICH

50 bushels per acre have been grown. General average greater than in any other part of the continent. Under new regulations it is possible to secure a homestead of 160 acres free, and additional 160 acres at $3 per acre.

"The development of the country has made marvelous strides. It is a revelation, a record of conquest by settlement that is remarkable."—Extracted from correspondence of a National Editor, who visited Canada in August last.

The grain crop of 1924 will net many farmers $20.00 to $25.00 per acre. Grain-raising, mixed farming and dairying are the principal industries. Climate is excellent; social conditions the best; railway advantages unequalled; schools, churches and markets close at hand. Land may also be purchased from railway and land companies.

LAWMAKERS MEET

CONGRESS CONVENES FOR ITS SECOND SESSION.

LITTLE DONE FIRST DAY

To New Senators and Nine Representatives Take the Oath—Fairbanks and Cannon in Their Places.

Washington.—Monday at 12 o'clock both houses of congress convened for the beginning of the second session of the Sixtieth congress. Vice-President Fairbanks opened the senate and Speaker Cannon presided in the house.

Practically no business was transacted in either house Monday. In the senate ex-Gov. Cummins of Iowa took oath of office as the successor of Senator Allison of that state, as did Carroll S. Page of Vermont as the successor of Senator Stewart.

In the house the seven members who were elected in November to succeed members who have died or resigned in that body also were sworn in. They are: Henry A. Barnhart (Dem.), who succeeds the late Mr. Brick (Rep.) from the Thirteenth Indiana district; Albert Estep (Dem.), who succeeds the late Mr. Meyer from the First Louisiana district; Otto G. Foelker (Rep.), successor to Mr. Dunwell (Rep.), in the Third New York district; Frank E. Guernsey (Rep.), successor to Mr. Powers (Rep.), from the Fourth Maine district; Eben M. Masters (Rep.), successor to Mr. Parker (Rep.), from South Dakota, at large; O. C. Wiley (Dem.), successor to his brother, A. A. Wiley (Dem.), from the Second Alabama district; and John P. Swasey (Rep.), successor to Mr. Littlefield, who resigned during the last session from the Second Maine district.

The two houses then appointed committees each to notify the other house and the president that the two bodies were organized and prepared to go forward with the business of the session. The senate then adjourned for the day out of respect to the memory of Senator Allison, who died during the recess. The house also terminated its brief session with resolutions commemorating the lives of Messrs. Parker, South Dakota; Wiley, Alabama; Dunwell, New York; and Powers, Maine, who have died since adjournment last May.

COUPLE FOUND DEAD TOGETHER.

Tragic Demise of Ohio Bank Cashier and Stenographer.

Columbus, O.—The bodies of Victor W. Wentz, aged 33, cashier of the First National bank of Canal Dover, O., and Miss Alice Holliger, a stenographer of 355 Marshall avenue, this city, and formerly of Uhrichsville, O., were found in the Bellwood Inn, a rural resort east of this city, soon after noon Sunday. Death, according to Coroner Murphy, was undoubtedly due to asphyxiation caused by an open gas stove. Wentz was a native of Canada, where his family is heavily interested in the bank of which he was cashier. He was a thirty-third degree Scottish Rite Mason.

STEAMER CLEMONS LOST.

Hope for Vessel and Her Crew of Twenty-Two Is Abandoned.

Duluth, Minn.—A. B. Wolvin of Duluth, owner of the steamer N. M. Clemson, has abandoned hope and admits that the vessel is probably at the bottom of Lake Superior with her crew of 22. S. R. Chamberlain of this city is captain. The Clemson is a week overdue at this port. She was caught in the terrific gale of last week on lower lake Superior. The vessel is 6,000 tons burden and was coal laden.

Electricity Kills.

Dr. J. J. County Physician of Framingham announced Sunday that a man electrocuted in the New state prison in order to die a claim of a New York physician put forth, that electricity not kill but that electrocution kills die under the surgeon's hand in the autopsy or in the quicklime which they are buried. The next to be electrocuted is John M. who is to die during the week of December 21.

PROVED BY TIME.

No Fear of Any Further Trouble.

David Price, Corydon, Ia., says: "I was in the last stage of kidney trouble—lame, weak, run down to a mere skeleton. My back was so bad I could hardly walk and the kidney secretions much disordered. A week after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I could walk without a cane, and as I continued my health gradually returned. I was so grateful I made a public statement of my case, and now seven years have passed, I am still perfectly well."

LAME BACK PRESCRIPTION

The increased use of "Toris" for lame back and rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following formula is effective: "To one-half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris Compound and one ounce Syrup Sarsaparilla Compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

Toris compound is a product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co., Chicago, but it as well as the other ingredients can be had from any good druggist.

Optimist and Pessimist.

Sydney Rosenfeld once wrote a comedy, entitled "The Optimist," which achieved success after the production, but was a long time reaching the stage. Manager after manager refused the manuscript, and one day Mr. Rosenfeld, whose patience was exhausted, blurted out to his sole auditor:

"Of course you don't appreciate the play! You don't even know the meaning of its name!"

"Yes, I do," protested the impresario.

"Well," insisted Rosenfeld, "what's the difference between an optimist and a pessimist?"

The manager barely hesitated: "An optimist is an eye doctor," he said; "a pessimist is a foot doctor."—Sunday Magazine.

Why He Remembered.

By some shuffling of the social cards the clergyman and the dog fancier were at the same afternoon tea. The wandering talk unexpectedly resolved itself into the question. Who were the 12 sons of Jacob? Even the cleric with the reversed collar had forgotten, but the doggy man reeled off the names without error, from Reuben down to Benjamin.

The clergyman looked surprised.

"Oh, I'm not great shakes on Scripture," said the man with the fox terrier, "but those are the names which some chap gave to a dozen puppies I'm willing to sell."

Expert Pocket-Picking.

An old lady was accosted in a London street by a well-dressed and refined-looking stranger, who effusively claimed her as a friend. "I really don't believe you remember me!" she exclaimed, reproachfully, and the old lady, never doubting that her memory was at fault, confessed that she could not quite recall the name. "Ah, but I have changed it since you knew me," said her interlocutor, gayly, and after a few more lively speeches she passed on, having possessed herself meanwhile of the old lady's purse.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Indigestion and the attendant discomforts of mind and body are certain to follow continued use of improper food.

Those who are still young and robust are likely to overlook the fact that, as dropping water will wear a stone away at last, so will the use of heavy, greasy, rich food, finally cause loss of appetite and indigestion.

Fortunately many are thoughtful enough to study themselves and note the principle of Cause and Effect in their daily food. A N. Y. young woman writes her experience thus:

"Sometime ago I had a lot of trouble from indigestion, caused by too rich food. I got so I was unable to digest scarcely anything, and medicines seemed useless."

"A friend advised me to try Grape-Nuts food, praising it highly, and as a last resort I tried it. I am thankful to say that Grape-Nuts not only relieved me of my trouble, but built me up and strengthened my digestive organs so that I can now eat anything I desire. But I stick to Grape-Nuts."

RECIPE FOR REAL TROUBLE.

Cheerfully Contributed to an Already Unhappy World.

Trouble making is an older industry than the manufacture of steel. Cain, the trouble maker, got into action before Tubal Cain, the iron worker; and Eve got Adam into hot water long before the Boiler Makers' union began business.

There are three kinds of trouble—imaginary, borrowed and real.

Imaginary trouble consists of railroad accidents, earthquakes, fires, suicides, the poorhouse, death, and the grave, carefully mixed and taken after a late dinner, or a drop in the stock market.

Borrowed trouble is the kind we get from our relatives. Its principal ingredients are visits, borrowed money, birthday presents, advice and expectations. But the real article is produced as follows: Put the sandals of endurance on your feet, take your life in your hands and follow by turn the How-to-Be-Happy Philosopher, the Preacher of Physical Culture and the Apostle of Diet.—Puck.

TORTURED SIX MONTHS

By Terrible Itching Eczema—Baby's Suffering Was Terrible—Soon Entirely Cured by Cuticura.

"Eczema appeared on my son's face. We went to a doctor who treated him for three months. Then he was so bad that his face and head were nothing but one sore and his ears looked as if they were going to fall off, so we tried another doctor for four months, the baby never getting any better. His hand and legs had big sores on them and the poor little fellow suffered so terribly that he could not sleep. After he had suffered six months we tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies and the first treatment let him sleep and rest well; in one week the sores were gone and in two months he had a clear face. Now he is two years and has never had eczema again. Mrs. Louis Beck, R. F. D. 3, San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 15, 1907."

Grown-Up Children.

It is not only the frivolous whom the spirit of childishness is just now leading astray. Stiffness is the fashion even among the wise. Women especially affect a kind of childish shrewdness in talking of serious subjects. Like children who have the habit of romancing, they lose the sense of reality, and because they never talk exactly as they think they begin to think exactly as they talk.—London Spectator.

Kicks.

Harry Payne Whitney the day his own and other noted horsemen's racers were shipped from London on the Minnehaha, said of the death of racing in New York:

"A good many jockeys have been hard hit. A jockey told me last week a very sad tale of misfortune. I listened sympathetically."

"Ah, Joe," said I, "when a man is down, few hands are extended to him."

"The jockey as he chewed a straw, smiled bitterly. 'Few hands—yes—that's right,' he said, 'but think of the feet.'"

SAVAGE & WATSON

SHOPPING IN FRANCE IS EASY.
Saleswomen Are Remarkably Adept at Their Business.

That the saleswomen in European shops are wonderfully quick-witted has often been noted. This is especially true of the French. Many of them, without understanding English, will interpret correctly the comments Americans make aside when examining goods, simply by studying their gestures and facial expressions. Once in Brussels we were looking at gloves. To my certain knowledge the saleswoman was wholly unacquainted with the English language. My companion said privately to me: "I am afraid these gloves will spot." "O, no, madame," the saleswoman instantly interrupted, in French, "they will never spot at all."

In Boulogne-sur-Mer, at a shop for men's furnishings, I asked for dress shirts. A very bright young woman gave me a quick, sharp glance, and then brought some specimens. They bore no distinguishing marks as to size. "Is there some man here who can take my measure?" I asked. "That is not necessary, sir," she replied, very sweetly. "Are you sure these will fit me?" "Perfectly." "But how can you tell?" I argued, unconvinced. "Why, sir," she explained in surprise at my doubt, "I looked at you." So I took the shirts to my room and tried them on, and surely enough, they were the best fit I ever had.—Travel Magazine.

INSISTED ON HOLE IN COFFIN.

Through It Col. Butler's Triumphant Pigtail Should Protrude.

Thomas Butler, a colonel in the army of the United States early in the nineteenth century, died in New Orleans in 1805 in the midst of his celebrated controversy with Gen. Wilkinson regarding the wearing of his queue.

Col. Butler insisted on wearing his hair in the old-fashioned style in disobedience to Wilkinson's orders. According to Pierce Butler in his biography of Judah P. Benjamin, while the dispute was still raging Butler died and left directions that a hole should be bored in the head of his coffin and that he should be borne to the grave with his triumphant pigtail protruding in defiance. The family tradition is that these directions were carried out.

Luck and the Gambler.

Luck is another name for superstition. The whole betting mania is based on pure superstitious belief in a blind chance that will somehow turn and help a fellow out some time. And that's why the innocent victims keep coming in a never-ending stream, begging to be shorn. And verily, they are not disappointed.

A Dangerous Operation

is the removal of the appendix by a surgeon. No one who takes Dr. King's New Life Pills is ever subjected to this frightful ordeal. They work so quietly you don't feel them. They cure constipation, headache, biliousness and malaria. 25c at J. H. Swan's drug store.

Origin of Muslin.

This favorite material of the "summer girl" derives its name from being first made at Mosul or Moussul, a town in Turkish Asia. From there it was introduced into India, and first brought to England in 1670. A few years afterward it was manufactured in large quantities in France and England, and in the present day English-made muslins rival in fineness the most delicate of gauzy muslins made in India.
